We Fix, You Fly

It's Been a Hard Day's Night

We're three months into 2020 and it already feels like we've crammed a year's worth of news into one quarter. Am I right? You don't have to answer; we're all feeling it.

As we all work to figure out how to adapt to this temporary new normal, it's important to pause and take stock of the positives that still surround us. First and foremost, the team here at Aerostar is grateful that we're healthy. Our operating strength has remained unaffected and business continues to run as normal. We have contingency plans in place to respond to any changes, and we wanted to let you know that we will continue to be able to provide the quality and service that you've come to expect from us. We are here to support our customers -- and our industry -- in any capacity that's needed.

Looking Ahead to Summer

As you know, the ACPC and MRO shows will be back to back this year. That's a bit of a change, but we're looking forward to a week-long stretch of mingling with old friends and making new ones. After weeks (or months) of social distancing, this year's events are sure to be a collectively enthusiastic return to normal for all of us.

Sincere Wishes

We're blessed at Aerostar to have forged many wonderful relationships with our portfolio of outstanding customers over the years. Our thoughts, our prayers, and our hearts are with all of you during this global challenge. No matter where you are, no matter what your own challenges may be, we extend our most sincere wishes that you remain strong and uninjured during the coming weeks and months.
